BRIBE PROBERS REPORT TO EXPULSION GETTHERO

REPRESENTATIVE FRANK J. GETTHERO.

House Committee Findings More of Whitewash Than Any One Supposed It Would Administer---Recommends Representative Swig Be Reprimanded.

The Committee on Rules of the House of Representatives made its report to-day on the charges of bribery in the Massachusetts Legislature. The document is much more of a whitewash than any person believed the committee would have the audacity to perpetrate. It is recommended that Representative Frank J. Gethro, for attempting to bribe members, be expelled from his seat in the House. It is recommended that Simon Swig, whose telling of the attempts to bribe him brought the matter to the attention of District Attorney Moran, and made it necessary for the Legislature to hold the whitewash investigation, be censured for telling contradictory stories and then denying them on the floor of the House.

Forget About Blocks of Fifty.

These findings, which could not have been otherwise on the evidence, are the only recommendations. The committee finds that there is no evidence that a single member of the House accepted money for his vote. There is not even a reference to the block of fifty votes to which Representative Meek testified. The report devotes considerable space to the newspapers whose exposures brought about the investigation, and intimates that measures should be taken to regulate the press. Not a word of the evidence upon which the report is based is made public. It is stated that the evidence will be printed in book form, of which there will be one copy, which will be filed in the State Library as required by law. Citizens of the State will be enabled to read it, one at a time, by visiting the State Library.

The report is principally a defense of the committee's actions. It begins with a statement of the vote under which the committee was authorized to proceed, and then devotes several hundred words to a defense of the secret hearings. A defense of the committee's action in giving witnesses immunity from prosecution takes up considerable space. An explanation of why the members did not consider it necessary to examine themselves is the subject of another paragraph. There is a page regarding the reference of the bribery charges to Chief Joseph W. Shaw of the State Police, and his report that he was unable to find that anyone had been bribed. So far as the report shows, the finding that no members of the House accepted bribes may or may not be based on this report of the chief of the State Police.

Couldn't Find Raymond.

Several pages are devoted to the inability of the committee to secure the attendance of George J. Raymond. The document was received by the House in printed form. It was regarded as significant that only the Republican members of the committee had signed it when it went to be printed. The Democrats were afterward whipped into line, evidently, for their names appear in the copies of the report given to the press in handwriting. An attempt to have the report received without being read, which was indeed by the House today, headed by Speaker Cole, was unsuccessful, proof being made by Representative Melton and Loumney that the majority that had attended the whole procedure had gone far enough. Speaker Cole withdrew his motion, while he said was simply for the purpose of saving time, as every member was to have a printed copy of the report, and the report was read in full by Clerk Kinnel. Representative Belton was not in the State House. Representative Swig was in his seat. When the clause recommending that he be censured was read he turned very white and blushed in his chair. The report was read over until Tuesday, when it will be considered by the House. Before this was done, Representative John Quinn of Boston, a member of the committee, made a plea for "extreme caution" in dealing with the recommendations. He said: "There is no part of the report that I can adequately critic or dissent from as to procedure, evidence and general conclusions, and findings of the committee. I say, however, of my belief that the action of providing immunity to the committee on this case of this investigation is a very important precedent, not only for any commonwealth, but as a precedent for other legislative bodies throughout the country. "I believe the extreme caution must be exercised in the matter of punishment of members of any legislative body upon what previous may be considered a hearing where in evidence submitted was largely hearsay and on facts not proven. I advise the House to suspend their judgment and to refrain on this case of members until they have been given a fair opportunity to examine the evidence directed against them particularly, as well as an opportunity to defend themselves on the floor of the House before their expulsion or expulsion to the Constitution. The House is the final judge of the qualifications of its members, and therefore, a full opportunity for defense after becoming familiar with the testimony should be given."

GETTHERO MAY FIGHT.

This statement of Mr. Quinn indicated in many particulars that it was Representative Gethro's intention to fight on the floor of the House the recommendation that he be expelled. If this is done it would naturally be necessary to make public the testimony before the committee, in order that the Representative might proceed intelligently with his vote.

RECOMMENDATIONS IN REPORT OF BRIBERY INVESTIGATION

Recommended: That Representative Frank J. Gethro be expelled from membership in the House of Representatives.
 Recommended: That Representative Simon Swig be censured by the House of Representatives.

—From the report of the bribery committee, made public to-day in the House of Representatives.

JEW KILLED, SHOPS LOOTED BY RIOTERS

ST. PETERSBURG, June 15.—Shot down without mercy by enraged Christians, hundreds of Jews are dead, dying or wounded in the streets and buildings of St. Petersburg. Many of the Christians were also killed or wounded. Riots are now parading the streets. Nearly every Jewish shop has been sacked and many of them burned. Hundreds have fled in terror from the city. The mob turned them and drove many of them on the platform and in the waiting rooms to death by the mob. Jews were dragged from the cars and murdered. Scores fled to the forests with their families, only to be pursued, and all who were overtaken were killed.

The Findings.

None of the evidence upon which these findings were based is made public. The accused Legislature, which "investigated" itself, asks the public to accept the committee's word without seeing any of the evidence upon which the findings are based.—BOSTON AMERICAN.

No evidence has been presented to show that any member of the House of Representatives has accepted a bribe.

The wholesale charges that many members have been bribed made in the public prints are not substantiated by any evidence whatsoever, and those who have given to them such wide publicity have either failed to appear before your committee, or have declared before your committee that they knew of no evidence which upon their oaths they could give showing corruption in the Legislature. Long continued efforts to secure the attendance of one of the individuals who has uttered many statements regarding legislation are described in a report of the sergeant-at-arms appended hereto. No condemnation that the public can express is too severe for men whose irresponsible statements are given such wide publicity with no proof to substantiate the statements and no law to punish those who utter them.

Files Petition Requesting Attorney-General of the State to Bring Matter Before Supreme Court, Maintaining Such Control Is Contrary to Law.

A legal move to stop the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad from the control of electric street railways in Massachusetts, which it has already assumed, has been begun by the BOSTON AMERICAN. The paper has filed a petition in the Supreme Court, asking the court to order the railroad to stop its control of the street railways. The petition is based on the fact that the railroad is a foreign corporation and that it is not allowed to control the street railways in Massachusetts. American's Petition to Attorney-General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

SUFFOLK, ss. REMEMBER DANIEL, Attorney-General of the Commonwealth: RESPECTFULLY represents the New England Newspaper Publishing Company, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and a citizen therein, that it is informed and believes and alleges upon information and belief that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the Commonwealth, and that in violation of the laws so declaring the said New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company has bought and now owns and controls in its own name and for its own use various electric street railways in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; that such ownership and control without express sanction of the Legislature is unlawful, either by foreign or domestic corporations doing business in this Commonwealth, and that the so doing by the said corporation is a nuisance of its character.

WHEREFORE your petitioner prays that the attorney-general shall file a suit in the Supreme Judicial Court in the nature of a quo warranto, or such other legal or equitable action as he may deem proper, on behalf of and at the expense of the Commonwealth and by or under the immediate direction of the attorney-general, to have such ownership and control be declared illegal and void; to have the said stocks now owned by the said New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company in electric street railways in this Commonwealth disposed of, and for an injunction preventing the said ownership, control and conduct of the said electric street railways, as purchased by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, and for such other and further relief arising out of such misuse of its franchise, and for the forfeiture of such franchises, if such action shall be lawful, as to the court shall seem meet.

TERRIBLE ITCHING SCALP HUMOR

Head Covered with Humor Sores, With Loss of Hair—Scalp Now Smooth and Clear, and Hair Growing as Well as Ever.

ANOTHER SPEEDY CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"All of my life I had been troubled more or less with humor in my scalp, but about a year ago it became worse, and my scalp was covered with little sores, which itched so it nearly made me crazy; my hair also began to get dry and fall out. I tried all kinds of hair restorers with no effect and I was nearly discouraged; but one day I was reading in a paper what the Cuticura Remedies had done for scalp diseases, and decided to make one more trial. I used Cuticura on my scalp for a box of Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Remedy Pills. I used them according to directions, and soon noticed a difference; the tiny sores on my scalp began to heal, the itching stopped, and my hair began to grow thick. I have used only one box of Cuticura, and one box of Pills, and now I have no humor on my scalp, my hair is soft and silky. I cannot say enough in praise of Cuticura. I hope this letter may be the means of helping someone else. (Signed) Miss Maymie C. Atkins, Box 25, St. Louis, Mo. Mar. 19, 1905."

WARD'S TIP-TOP BREAD

Home Made was never so Good

We can bake your bread cheaper than you can. Figure your cost, flour, yeast, milk, salt, sugar and butter—and you will see that it is true economy to let us bake your bread. We have your labor, time and worry—and the bread is always good, and your temper sweet.

We manufacture under the best sanitary conditions. Every loaf of cleanliness is observed. Our bakery is as clean as any kitchen in the land, and would meet with the approval of the most careful housewife. Every ingredient used is pure and wholesome—that is why

Ward's Tip-Top Bread Is 100% Pure

We thoroughly aerate and hydrate every particle of flour, thus developing the gluten to an extraordinary degree. This means more nourishment, more brain, more muscle, and a bread easy of digestion. The old style mixing method may be likened to dropping a folded newspaper in a bucket of water. Remove it after an immersion and you will find the paper soggy, wet, and, as we call it in bakery "thoroughly hydrated," while the inner portion is in a dry state; but with our patent process of mixing, the dough is acted by six massive arms, pulled and stretched as though each arm of the paper was open, being thoroughly hydrated, the same time a current of fresh, pure, sweet, cold air from the refrigerator is forced into the mixer till the entire mass is permeated with tiny air cells. Here is the secret of the whiteness of WARD'S TIP-TOP. Every ingredient is pure and healthful as a sea breeze. It is impossible to give bread that rich flavor possessed alone in WARD'S TIP-TOP. Reference has revealed that dough should be worked at a uniform temperature to produce the best results. This is impossible in the home, or even in any bakery, without this process, to thus hydrate the flour—and lacking this, it is impossible to give bread that rich flavor possessed alone in WARD'S TIP-TOP. Bread making is progressing, and the improvement calls for expensive machinery, the highest degree of skill, and constant attention, and watchfulness from the moment the flour enters the mill till the finished loaf leaves the oven. The day of the spinning wheel and the hand loom has passed, and the day of home baking is drawing to a close—for the demand is for the best, and that is WARD'S TIP-TOP BREAD—the bread of excellence.

SCHOOLS OPEN IN HAVERHILL DESPITE MAYOR

Half of the Scholars Attend and Other Half Go to the Circus.

'NO SCHOOL' SIGNAL GIVEN

Special to the Boston American. HAVERHILL, June 13.—Despite the order of Mayor Howell L. Wood to close the public schools today on account of the circus, the schools are open, by direction of the School Board. About one-half of the pupils obeyed the order to attend school. The other half followed the Mayor's order and looked on the schools as closed. No sign was given.

Superintendent Holmes of the School Department said today that the School Board had decided to keep the schools open today. All teachers and scholars were notified. This attempt at interference amounts to no more than the attempt of any irresponsible party.

Mayor Wood had the school signs removed at 7:30 today. This signal is usually issued from the city hall. The Manual Training School and Mayor Wood went in that direction. The Mayor was not there.

Nothing daunted, the Mayor called on his headquarters and had a no-school sign placed on the general area north of the Essex street railway house.

Superintendent Holmes was hanged in office by some schoolboys during the night at the corner of Main and Sumner streets, the sign being cut down soon after daybreak.

LABOR SCORES PLAN TO MAKE DANA JUSTICE

Union Men Say He Opposed Overtime Bill and Other Measures.

WILL VOTE AGAINST GUILD

Governor Dilla's action in nominating President William F. Dana of the Senate to be associate justice of the Superior Court in place of the late Judge Maynard was condemned by the Laborers' Union Council last night. Resolutions were passed calling upon the state senators of the various affiliated with the Carpenter District Council to vote accordingly at the next state senate.

All next Sunday's meeting of the Council will call upon organized labor to support the action of the state senators in voting against the nomination of Mr. Dana.

The statement of the meeting was read by Albert J. J. Potts of the Carpenter Union No. 1, the largest in the city, who said:

"I do not think it right or fair that President Dana should be appointed a judge of the Superior Court, as he opposed the overtime bill in the Senate, and was a member of the Guild, and acted in only the selfish interest of his own measure."

SYNOPSIS

He thought about him for a few minutes, and then he said, "What he wanted was to be a doctor, to which, I think, you said, 'No.'"

"In the man said, 'How did you and Stanislas answer?' "Stetson" thought for a moment, and then he said, "I don't remember, but I am wondering through the passing plants across a child here and there how he was so the peckers were very careful to follow the law, and I don't think I had trouble as you were not involved in the taking the document from the little and glancing at it, and then sending it back to him."

"When he set some one else a difference," and showed the lad how to place a can every time the empty arm of the wheel was raised, and then he decided the place in the universe of Stanislas, and his destiny, till the of his days.

time, they have discovered that the wages of the children were a little more than

had been before!

He would be but fail to them to say that little boy was delighted with his work at the idea of earning a lot of money; also that the two were very much pleased with each other.

ED UNIFORMS MADEN BULL

The uniformed employees of Wanda and were given a bad scare yesterday.

...put on exhibition that photo-resort. They had all their photo in their neat red uniforms, and one returning to their duties man-delit to the shed devoted to the exhibition of the largest bull in the west.
The thought the red uniforms were bright, the sight of the red outfit made him fidget. With a below ed to break from their strong char-one returning to their duties and the others who were they intruon they entered.

The bull, which is said to be the largest in the world, was owned by Leslie K. Mc Haverhill, and was put on exhibit Wonderland yesterday for the first time. It is a handsome beast and weighs 40 pounds.

DIVES TO BOTTOM
Built something upon the private Hollander's account, "one-horse story," that run one hundred years to a day, the old schooner "Morning Star" lay for years without warning, down to the bottom of Boston harbor. The one man who was on board, Peter Wren, jumped overboard and was rescued by the tug "Hollyhock".
The morning star is owned by the Samuel Cabot Company, and is used to transport oil about the harbor. The loss is $25,000.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

80 AND 82 SUMNER ST., BOSTON, JUNE 15, 1906.

Governor Guild's Opportunity

Will He Have the Courage of Previous Governors and Let the People Decide
About the Cambridge Subway?

A bill of the deepest public concern will soon lie upon the mahogany desk of Governor Guild, there awaiting his approval or disapproval.

It is the Cambridge subway bill, giving the Boston Elevated Railway a right to build and own a subway from the new bridge to Harvard square in Cambridge; from Lechmere square in Cambridge to Harvard square, and an elevated from Lechmere square to the North Station. It is a bill reversing the policy of Massachusetts in respect to the ownership of our subways, and it lies in the face of Boston's bitter experience with an elevated structure.

It is bad enough for Cambridge, and worse for Boston. In Cambridge it gives the Boston Elevated Railway a practical ownership of one of the largest subways in the world and the only subway, we think, in America, which is not owned by the people.

In Boston it imposes on one of the most thickly settled districts a monstrous elevated structure to roar and crash by the homes of the poor, wiping out real estate values and the little equities which so many of them have in their little homes, destroying their comfort and privacy and sunlight by day and their rest by night. A subway through the West End would be cheaper and would do no harm.

To return now to an elevated after five years' evidence of its utter destructiveness and ten years' evidence of a subway's success is a crime against progress. To impose it, with all its attendant evils, upon Boston without her consent, is a crime against self-government. To enact it without any safeguards against stock-watering that is now has a crime against the laws and practices of Massachusetts.

Will Governor Guild sign this bill WITHOUT INSISTING UPON THE APPROVAL OF THE CITIZENS OF BOSTON by a vote on a referendum?

If he does, he takes a step backward. If he does, he has not the courage of Governor Wolcott and Governor Crane, at a time when to defy a corporation required a braver man than it requires now.

When the Boston Elevated Railway wanted to put the tracks back upon Tremont street, Governor Wolcott said, "Not unless the people of Boston are willing." And when the people of Boston voted on the question they said "No" by more than two to one.

When the Boston Elevated Railway wanted to get the Washington street subway on improper conditions, Governor Crane vetoed the bill because it did not give the citizens of Boston a right to decide the question. Here is what Governor Crane said:

Previous Legislatures have referred to the city of Boston, for its acceptance or rejection, acts relating to rapid transit. And the results of the ballots so taken show that the voters have acted intelligently, and with a full understanding of the issues involved.

In the year 1882 two acts were passed, one providing for the construction of an elevated railway, and the other for a subway. Both were conditioned upon their acceptance; the former by the voters of the city of Boston, the latter by the City Council.

The elevated railway bill was rejected by the voters. But the subway bill was accepted by the City Council. The subway bill of 1893, however, was found to be inadequate, and a more comprehensive act was passed in 1894.

This act also contained a referendum clause, and it was accepted by the voters. In 1899 a statute was enacted providing for the restoration of the surface tracks to Tremont and Baylston streets, which, under the provisions of the act of 1894, had been removed. This act also provided for a referendum to the voters of Boston, and was by them rejected.

I see no good reason why these precedents should not be followed in a bill so important and far-reaching in its consequences to the citizens of Boston as is the one before me.

When the same subway bill failed to provide against the Boston Elevated Railway's watering its stock, this is what Governor Crane said:

The bill is objectionable for the further reason that it is in violation of the spirit of the statute designed to prevent stock-watering, laws whose wisdom have been so far confirmed by experience that all attempts to modify or repeal them have failed. The essence of stock-watering is, I take it to be, the issuance of stock not based upon actual property of the corporation.

This bill provides that the money to be paid to the city of Boston may be provided for by issuing stock; but no provision is made for the redemption or cancellation of the stock at the end of the term.

The money so paid in, in fact, expended, not for permanent improvements, but for rentals, and does not increase the value of the plant of the company. At the end of forty years the stock is free, and will be held by the company without property to show for it. There is, it is true, a provision for a sinking fund, but none whatever that the proceeds of the sinking fund shall be used to retire the stock so issued.

That year, when the Democrats nominated Josiah Quincy for Governor he declared from the public platform that he could not expect to be elected against a Governor who had won such popularity by his veto of the subway bill.

When Governor Crane sent in his veto message scores of Representatives who had voted for the bill, realizing their mistake, hastened to uphold the veto.

East Boston Gets Dollar Gas Through the BOSTON AMERICAN - Now for the Illegal Railway Monopoly

After more than a year, the Massachusetts Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners has given its decision in the BOSTON AMERICAN's petition for cheaper gas in East Boston. The price there has been $1.50 a thousand feet. By the terms of the order it will drop to $1.10 on the first day of next month, and to $1 on the first day of January.

This is the last of the Boston gas companies to feel the force of the public will, as expressed last year in the BOSTON AMERICAN's petition of more than 70,000 citizens and gas consumers.

The price of gas in those parts of Boston served by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company has been decreased to ninety cents, and is soon to be lowered to eighty cents more. The Charlestown company held out and attempted to disobey the orders of the Gas Commissioners, but its price has been reduced. And now the East Boston company is ordered to follow suit.

When this newspaper first took up the battle, all of these companies were contemptuous. You see they had no experience with the kind of journalism that not only prints all the news, without fear, but makes them feel that there have never been any of that sort in Boston, as they may not be entirely to blame for their attitude.

Even after this newspaper engaged the very best lawyers that have ever fought the predatory trusts in this country, headed by Clarence J. Shaw, and secured the greatest expert on gas in America, Professor Edward S. Bennett of Cleveland—who came here, and after an exhaustive investigation of Boston conditions testified day after day as to the exorbitant price of gas, the Gas Trust continued to hold the same attitude of defiance.

It took one morning to find that for once the people of Massachusetts were stronger than a trust—that it must agree to a lowering of the price to ninety cents up here in Boston. But that instead of the $1,000,000 worth of water it had planned to put into the stock of its company, it must give to the Trust to allow it to water its stock at all. Of course, it was quite a success, when it might to sell $4,000,000 and to cut its price only to ninety cents. But it was a surprise to three-quarters of the Legislature in arranging things, and it was a surprise to three-quarters of the State that the BOSTON AMERICAN had succeeded in securing anything like the reduction it did.

Then came the Gas Commission's decision in the Charlestown Company's case, and now we have a reduction of price in East Boston.

In the mean time, as you see, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company has seen to it that this thing doesn't happen to it again, for ten which takes from the people all right of petition.

Like the outcome of the case against the Charlestown Company, the result is not ENTIRELY satisfactory. So long as gas is eighty cents in New York City, and honest experts are of the opinion that the price of gas in Boston is a dollar will not satisfy any one within the limits of Boston. But as compared with the present price of $1.50, the reduction will seem very pleasing.

Yesterday this newspaper began another battle for the people which, if successful, and this newspaper has no doubt it WILL be successful, will be a far-seeing victory for the people of one of the greatest municipalities in Massachusetts. There was a scheme—"Is a scheme" is being carried out by the Legislature next year to give us back with renewed vigor and more power the old law called the "Boston Railroads Law" authority to control the Boston and Maine, the Boston and Albany and the New York and Albany.

It is the plan to allow the Boston and Maine, the Boston and Albany and the New York and Albany to build and own a subway from the new bridge to Harvard square in Cambridge; from Lechmere square in Cambridge to Harvard square, and an elevated from Lechmere square to the North Station. It is a bill reversing the policy of Massachusetts in respect to the ownership of our subways, and it lies in the face of Boston's bitter experience with an elevated structure.

It is bad enough for Cambridge, and worse for Boston. In Cambridge it gives the Boston Elevated Railway a practical ownership of one of the largest subways in the world and the only subway, we think, in America, which is not owned by the people.
